"Críticas ""The sister collaborators work in harmony. ... Heartwarming and illuminating."" - Kirkus, starred review ""... the book pushes at the boundaries of literary conventions in both form and content, providing a much-needed mirror for readers within the culture, and an astonishing window for those outside. A lovely testament to community and cultural diversity."" - Booklist Reseña del editor The text in this book is bilingual, written in English and Inuktitut (syllabics and transliteration), which will appeal to parents who want to expose their children to Inuit culture and language. A look at an Inuit community in small-town Nunavut - a part of Canada many children may not know much about. Curriculum connections: social studies (communities, Inuit customs). Biografía del autor Angnakuluk Friesen grew up in Rankin Inlet, Nunavut, where she volunteers for the local fire department and does contract work. She spends time at the cabin with her family at the river and enjoys sewing winter clothing for loved ones. Angnakuluk lives with her husband in Rankin Inlet. This is her first book. Ippiksaut Friesen is an Inuk from Rankin Inlet, Nunavut. She studied drawing and ceramics at the Matchbox Gallery located in Rankin Inlet. She's a graduate of Emily Carr University where she received her bachelor's degree in media arts, majoring in animation. Her mixed-media art focuses on Inuit community through animation or illustration. She lives in Iqaluit, Nunavut. Jean Kusugak is an interpreter and translator in Rankin Inlet, Nunavut."
