"Pressestimmen Heart-warming...Grandmothers is a beautifully written and moving celebration of this love, too often unsung, that reaches out across the generations. It should be read by all grannies - so that's one Christmas present sorted (The Times)A gentle, subtly autumnal tale...allows characters ample opportunity to reflect wisely on subjects including art, family and mortality (Daily Mail)A fond portrait of what it is to love a child, both yours and not... a tonic for the overlooked modern grandmother (Sunday Times)No one can dig down into the shrouded recesses of the human heart quite as forensically as Vickers (Sunday Times)An incisive exploration of the sweetly painful love that exists between generations (Mail on Sunday)Vickers writes of relationships with undaunted clarity (Adam Phillips)A poignant tale (The i)Gentle and charming (Saga)In exquisite prose, Salley Vickers explores the characters of three very different Grandmothers whose lives eventually converge. The characterisation is so vivid I feel as if I know them all and might be likely to enjoy a cup of tea and a chat with any one of them. This is a wonderfully heart-warming and tender story, a story to savour, a story that gets to the heart of this time of a woman's life that is so frequently ignored in fiction. As a grandmother myself, I loved it. (Dinah Jefferies) Über den Autor und weitere Mitwirkende Salley Vickers is the author of many novels, including Miss Garnet's Angel, The Cleaner of Chartres and Cousins. She has worked as a teacher of children with special needs, a university teacher of literature and a psychoanalyst. She now writes full time and divides her time between London and Wiltshire."
